

The Anti-Public Common School Organization—Fordham Institute: Reform-Minded School Board Members Should Push For Choice...

The Fordham folks seem to be salivating over the recent election of a lot of board members that are not “school establishment” individuals. Apparently, they prefer “grassroots contenders running on culture-war issues”.

The well-funded Fordham establishment sponsors charter schools in Ohio and campaigns vigorously for any and all school choice programs.

Traditional public school advocates need to be aware that this anti-public school group has a heavy presence at the Ohio Statehouse.

Reform-minded school board members should push for choice, science of reading | The Thomas B. Fordham Institute