

THOMAS ULTICAN'S ARTICLE ON THE CURRENT ATTACK ON PUBLIC EDUCATION

Many public school administrators, teachers, and advocates still don't believe public school districts are under attack. Thomas Ultican's article should be a wake-up call.

A small percentage of US citizens are devoted to the destruction of the traditional public common school system. This small contingent is an array of billionaires. They lavishly support private alterations to the traditional system and undermine public confidence in authentic public education.

Current Attack on Democracy and Public Education | tultican