

The constitutionally-required public common school system could be reduced to rubble by extremist politicians.

The Speaker of the House has said the Cupp/Patterson Fair School Funding plan is not “sustainable”. The Chair of the Senate Education Committee said he is developing a school funding plan. A candidate for Governor is proposing the elimination of the income tax and the property tax. (The property tax statewide finances over one-half of the expenditures of school districts.) The Governor’s budget reduces funding for school districts and adds hundreds of millions to the voucher and charter industries.

Enough said!
