

Public Funds Public Schools (PFPS) weighs in on the federal voucher program and forthcoming regulations for the program.

Public Funds Public Schools (PFPS) is an initiative of the New Jersey Education Law Center. PFPS has weighed in opposing the federal voucher bill and forthcoming regulations. Their December 18 publication provides details.

The current federal administration abhors public education and is using the power, influence and funds of the federal government to privatize education. It is as if those in charge are afraid of the past and current efficacy of public education. Public education and democracy are co-dependent, which puts fear in the hearts of autocratic politicians and some ultra-wealthy folks.

Vouchers in the form of tuition tax credits is a budget item in the current federal budget.

The tuition tax credit voucher deal works like this. A person can receive a tax credit in the same amount as he or she contributes to private school education.

Currently the Treasury Department and the Internal Revenue Service are developing regulations for this horrific scheme.
